

Who are the Colournauts?

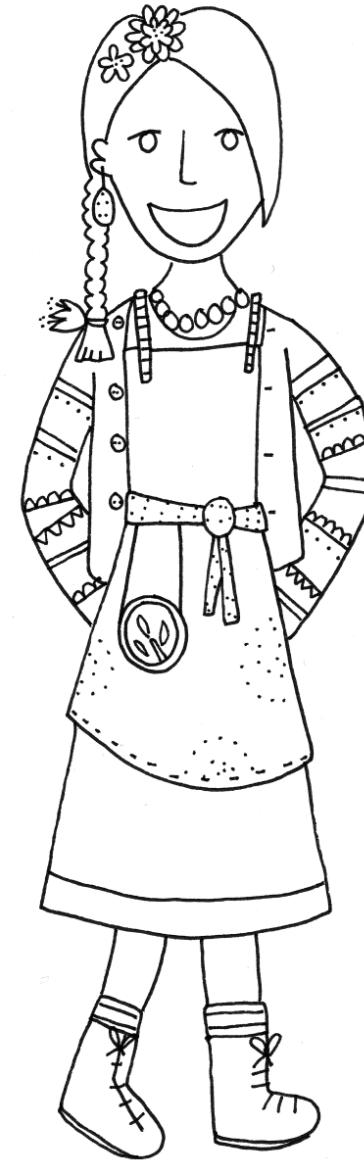

Do you know what is a Colournaut? If not, don't worry soon you will know.

Colournaut is a colouring professional. It means that a Colournaut can colour any picture but on top of that Colournauts love colours and they want to bring joy and playfulness to other people's lives with colours as well. Colournauts live all over the world but right now you get to know Colournaut sisters who live in an old wooden house in Finland in a small town called Utti. Their street is called Colouring Street.

These sisters are the Colournauts Annu and Unna Autti. Annu and Unna have lived in Utti for all of their lives. And although being a Colournaut runs in the family, Annu and Unna have done a correspondence course in the international Institute of Colournauts to officially graduate as Colournauts.

As Colournauts they often challenge each other but also others to different kinds of colour tasks. They also follow the Colournaut traditions and do all sorts of colour experiments. One of their favourite colour challenges is to dress up in just one colour from head to toes.

Although Annu and Unna are both Colournauts and also sisters they are still very different. Unna is a drawer; she's always got a pen hidden in her sock or pocket. Annu on the other hand loves to write. You will often find her making notes in her colour diaries. With Colournauts you get to hear stories from Utti as well as take part in all sorts of colouring activities. Annu and Unna are also constantly coming up with little activities with words and pictures that also you get to try!
