

E ncourage sharing.

One thing that will definitely make everyone feel better at the workplace is sharing the workload. This week we'd like to encourage you to share things that you've found useful with your colleagues. Whether you share material, tips, ideas or planning, it will most likely make a difference to your colleagues.

Set up a system to share best ideas, whether it's a folder in the staff drive or a group chat where everyone can post their ideas. This way everyone can dip in and out of the suggestions when it suits them.

Sharing is caring!